Student dies from injuries after Tuesday auto accident

By CATHY PODWOJSKI
City editor

A Carman Hall resident died Tuesday afternoon from injuries he received in a car accident early Tuesday morning.

Freshman Bret O'Brien, 19, died at 2:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Hospital in Kankakee following a car accident that occurred on Interstate 57 at 8:01 a.m.

O'Brien was on his way home to Darien to visit his girlfriend, said Tim Manning, O'Brien's roommate.

The accident happened when O'Brien reportedly fell asleep at the wheel about 17 miles south of Kankakee, said Sgt. Rex Ketchum of the Illinois State Police in Ashkum. Ketchum said O'Brien's car then crossed the median and flipped over, throwing O'Brien from the car.

"It's unfortunate, but it's one of those cases where a seatbelt could have saved his life," Ketchum said.

Manning said services for O'Brien will be held at the Blake and Lamb Funeral Home on Illinois Route 53 in Lisle. The wake will be Friday, while the actual funeral services will follow on Saturday, Manning said. He added he does not know yet what times the services will be.

"He was a great guy," Manning said. "He was friends with everyone."

Manning said he was told of O'Brien's accident around 1 p.m. Tuesday from members of O'Brien's family.

"He was the last person I expected this to happen to," Manning said. "I didn't believe it at first; I just thought it was another one of his jokes."

O'Brien was a 1988 graduate of Downers Grove South High School.

He was the second Carman Hall resident to be involved in a car accident this week.

Freshman David Smith is listed in fair condition at the Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center. He was in a car accident early Monday at Eighth Street Circle and Taft Avenue.

Gettysburg Address featured at Tarble

Original speech will be exhibited

By RICK THOMAS
Staff writer

Original copies of the Gettysburg Address and the Emancipation Proclamation will be exhibited starting Saturday at the Tarble Arts Center.

The exhibit, part of the A. Lincoln Freedom Collection, will include other Lincoln memorabilia, such as a copy of the famous "House Divided" speech of 1858. Admission for the exhibit is free.

However, the exhibit will get an early kick-off on Friday with a preview of the collection for Tarble Art Center members and other special guests. Eastern President Stan Rives will be present at the reception, which is to be held from 5 to 7 p.m.

Karen Fyfe, secretary of the Illinois State Historical Society, said the exhibit began touring the state on February 11 at the prestigious Newberry Library in Chicago, where it drew a crowd of about 300 people.

Fyfe said the exhibit is the first time that the famous documents have been out of the historical library, and 24 hour security will be provided in the Tarble Arts Center.

Fyfe said the documents, having a monetary value well into the millions, will arrive in Charleston on Friday in an Illinois Historical Society van with a police escort.

The Illinois Historical Society is expecting a crowd of at least 250 people to attend Friday's reception, Fyfe said. "We would like to see that many (people)."

The Tarble Arts Center is one of only five places in the state to exhibit the A. Lincoln Freedom Collection. Fyfe said sites for the exhibition were selected with the intention to make the showing accessible to everyone in the state.

The collection will be presented in the Blaw-Know and Heath Candy Co. Galleries at Tarble.

False alarms keep Charleston firefighters busy

Editor's note: This is the fourth in a five-part series focusing on crime

By JEFF MADSEN
Senior reporter

The call breaks out . . . an alarm at Eastern Illinois University.

Within minutes, a building has been evacuated and there are police cars, two fire engine pumps, an aerial ladder truck and an ambulance racing to the scene.

After a brief inspection, firefighters discover the call was merely a false alarm.

Charleston Fire Chief Tom Watson estimates that one-third of the calls his department responds to are false alarms and 80 percent of those occur on Eastern's campus. Overall, he said, 95 percent of the calls to Eastern result in false alarms.

"The biggest majority (more than 50 percent) of the (false alarms) can be attributed to system malfunctions because we cannot determine what triggered the system," Watson said.

In 1988, the Charleston Fire Department responded to about 105 false alarms, more than 80 percent of which occurred at Eastern. Only 23 of those were reported as malicious or intentional, while 82 were either alarm malfunctions or unintentional false alarms.

"The number of false alarms has been decreasing annually," Watson noted. "I can remember when we were running 30 or 40 a month." Watson was referring to a period in the fall of 1982 when the master clock that controls synchronization of Eastern's wall clocks on campus occasionally malfunctioned, and that in turn electronically triggered fire alarms throughout campus at precisely one minute before the hour.

Since then, Watson said, Eastern has implemented a better alarm system and beefed up enforcement, resulting in a decrease of false alarms.

"It's part of the job," Watson said. "Sometimes when you've been out to the dorm three or four times in the middle of the night the guys get pretty upset about it, but they realize it's part of the job."

Although only 30 percent of the false alarms are malicious acts on the students' part, Judicial Officer Keith Kohanzo said students are severely punished for activating a false alarm.

"It is the only conduct regulation in our Student Conduct Code that is described with an adjective - serious," Kohanzo said. "Oddly enough, we don't talk about the seriousness of other things, but we do about that."

Kohanzo said a student who causes a fire alarm faces almost certain suspension or expulsion from the university in addition to Class 4 felony charges from city police.

A Class 4 felony is punishable with one to three years in prison.

In 1986, Kohanzo fondly recalls one unintentional case when a student, who in a moment of passionate embrace with his girlfriend, grabbed the alarm behind her by accident.

"But a student who deliberately causes a fire alarm would likely face suspension or expulsion," Kohanzo added.

In 1988, the Charleston Fire Department responded to two actual fires including a small kitchen fire at Ford Hall in January and another one in Ninth Street Hall in October.

The most significant off-campus fire occurred over Spring Break, when a Dec. 20 fire gutted the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity House at 926 Tenth St. A State Fire Marshall later ruled arson was the cause of that fire.

Bomb suspected by pilots

WASHINGTON — The pilots of the United Airlines jumbo jet that limped into an emergency landing after a hole opened on its side were convinced a bomb had exploded on board as they struggled to stay aloft, government documents indicated Wednesday.

The dramatic 25-minute return of United Flight 811 to Honolulu from 22,000 feet over the Pacific on Feb. 24 was tracked closely by air traffic controllers who at times feared the jetliner would have to ditch in the ocean, according to a transcript of communications between the plane and controllers.

Investigators believe that the plane, carrying 354 people, broke open after a cargo door latch failed.

No evidence has surfaced of a bomb being on board.

Weapons inspections begin

WASHINGTON — Soviet arms control inspectors decided Wednesday to conduct "short-notice" inspections at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and Huntsville, Ala., under terms of the treaty banning medium-range nuclear weapons, the Pentagon announced.

The Soviet inspection teams had arrived in Washington on Tuesday.

Cmdr. Ken Pease, a Pentagon spokesman, said one 10-member team specified a visit to a missile storage facility at the Redstone Army Depot in Huntsville. The other 10-member team asked to inspect Complex 16 at Patrick Air Force Base at Cape Canaveral.

Complex 16 was once used as a launch test center for the Pershing II and ground-launched cruise missiles that are covered by the treaty.

The Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces Treaty authorizes the United States and Soviet Union to conduct 20 short-notice inspections.

Semiautomatics may flood market

WASHINGTON (AP) — Close to 1 million new semiautomatic assault-style rifles could flood the United States if the Bush administration decides to end its suspension of such imports.

Gun importers have applications to bring in 965,000 of the weapons pending at the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, according to spokesman Dick Pedersen.

The import suspension was imposed March 14 after public and police outcries over the increased use of the weapons such as semiautomatic versions of the AK-47s and Uzi carbines in drug-related violence, and the January slayings of five schoolchildren in Stockton, Calif.

The suspension covered some 400,000 weapons including about 300,000 for such import permits that had already been approved. Last week, the administration expanded the suspension to cover 240,000 separate weapons.

"We noticed the increase in these showing up in crimes, an increase in demand, and we reacted to it," Pedersen said. "The main thing is that we might be nipping the semiautomatic-assault type rifle in the bud rather than have millions of them flooding in here."

Nevertheless, gun importers are continuing to submit applications, he said Tuesday.

"It appears there have been a lot more applications that came after the ban," Pedersen said.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms is required by law to permit imports only of weapons suitable or adaptable "for sporting purposes," and it is studying the use of the semiautomatic rifles to determine how they are being used. The review should take two to three more months.

Despite the uproar over the weapons, FBI crime statistics reveal that most murders involve firearms are still committed by people wielding handguns.

Of the 17,859 murders committed in 1987, 10,556 were committed with firearms.

Struggling commuter airline sold

CARBONDALE (AP) — The sale of a commuter airline serving Southern Illinois Airport was being arranged Wednesday, and officials said they hoped the new owner could return the struggling carrier to profitability.

But the president of the Cleveland-based company buying Prime Air Inc. said the future of the unsubsidized Carbondale route depends on community support through direct investments totaling $100,000 as well as on ridership.

V.I.P. Companies, the new owner, plans to continue operating federally subsidized routes linking Mount Vernon and Clarksville, Tenn., to Lambert field in St. Louis, officials said.

Details of the sale, being finalized this week, were not released.

O.M. Pierce, president of V.I.P., said that if he fails to garner enough support, the Carbondale-based airline will move its base of operations and 26 jobs to Outland Airport near Mount Vernon. That would leave the Southern Illinois Airport without commuter service.

James S. Prowell, executive director of the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce, said, however, he saw no problem in raising the $100,000, especially with Pierce's proven track record.

"He tries to buy an airline that he can take, whether it's small or in trouble, and make it profitable and sell it," Prowell said. "He has the experience in airlines that the previous owner did not have."

Because of that experience, Prowell said, Prime Air under Pierce could guarantee reasonable rates and an end to constantly changing flight schedules.

"If we provide what the commuter wants," he said, "we will have the traffic."

Police find more bodies in cult ritual

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) - Members of a voodoo cult of drug smugglers, arrested in at least 12 ritual slayings, including a U.S. college student, said Wednesday they sacrificed their victims to gain demonic protection from the police.

Police dug for two more bodies Wednesday at the ranch where they found the 12 mutilated bodies and said they were seeking a Cuban they believe led the bloody cult.

"We killed them for protection," Elio Hernandez Rivera, 22, of Matamoros, told reporters. He said at a news conference that he shot and killed one victim and decapitated another.

"Very clearly they believe the human sacrifices and the animal sacrifices put a magical shield around them that protected them from evil or harm, even up to bullets," said Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox.

In addition to the University of Pre-medical student, the victims included a Matamoros policeman, a Mexican federal police volunteer, and a 16-year-old, Mexican and U.S. officials said. At least one victim was kidnapped in Brownsville, Texas, in the last month, and as many as three of the dead may be American, officials said.

Contrary to officials' assertions Tuesday, Oran Neck, U.S. Customs chief agent in Brownsville, just across the Rio Grande from Matamoros, said Wednesday there was no evidence of cannibalism.

BOG announces administrative exchange

By GINA MARSHALL
Staff writer

The Board of Governors recently announced the participants of a program that is designed to help women and minorities advance in university administrative positions.

Alexander B. Russell Jr., Eastern's manager of benefits science, has been chosen as a fellow to the Affirmative Action Administrative Fellows Program. This program allows one faculty or staff member from each BOG school to work in the office of a president or vice president from a different BOG school for one year.

The BOG is the governing board of Governors State University, Northeastern Illinois University, Chicago State University, Western Illinois University and Eastern.

"The lack of women and minorities in upper-level university administration in Illinois prompted the board to initiate this program last year," said BOG Chancellor Thomas D. Layzell, in a press release. "The fellows gain valuable experience that will not only expand their career opportunities, but expand our pool of candidates for those upper level

Basketball victory tips off Greek Week

KIRSTEN HALTON
Staff writer

A cheering crowd of about 250 gathered in McAfee Gym Wednesday night for the annual basketball game of Eastern Greeks vs. Western Greeks.

Eastern came out on top, posting a 50-46. However, Wednesday's game was only an exhibition. A Friday game at Western will determine which school will bring back the coveted traveling trophy.

During halftime, each sorority and fraternity participated in fun and games that left the crowd in uncontrollable laughter. The relay began with a wheelbarrow race, that led into a soda chugging contest and finished with a game where students ran around in circles with their noses on the tip of a baseball bat.

"Greek Week is a great idea because it's a chance for Greeks to compete yet be unified," said Amy Middleton of Alpha Gamma Delta. Paul Norkett of Sigma Nu added, "Greek Week is a time to act as one unit instead of individually in a fun competitive spirit."

"It's a lot of fun, everyone puts their differences aside and has fun," said Brad Kirk of Sigma Nu.

Greek Week spirit point totals for sororities are: Sigma Kappa, 66; Alpha Sigma Alpha, 65; Alpha Sigma Tau, 65; Phi Sigma Sigma, 65; Alpha Phi, 61; Delta Zeta, 61; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 60; and Alpha Gamma Delta, 54.

Fraternities spirit points standings are: Lambda Chi Alpha, 72; Delta Tau Delta, 70; Sigma Nu, 68; Sigma Chi, 58; Sigma Pi, 57; Sigma Tau Gamma, 38; Delta Sigma Phi, 28; Pi Kappa Alpha, 23; Delta Chi, 15; and Tau Kappa Epsilon, 15.

Thursday's events will begin at 3 p.m. at the Campus Pond.

The awards ceremony will be held Saturday at the Lawson, Taylor tennis courts.

Student Body

BOG representative stresses budget awareness

Editor's note: This is the fourth in the five part series focusing on Eastern's student government executives.

By JEFF MADSEN
Senior reporter

As Eastern's Board of Governors Representative, Patty Kennedy said that sometimes she felt like she was running into a brick wall - especially when it came to funding for higher education.

"I sometimes feel that there's always that problem with increased funding, and it seems like you're always running into a brick wall," Kennedy said, reflecting on her term as BOG representative.

One of Kennedy's primary responsibilities as BOG representative was to act as a liaison between the student body and the Board of Governors, Eastern's governing body.

While funding for higher education in Illinois continues to dwindle, students have had to take the brunt of the financial crisis in the form of tuition increases. In 1988, Eastern students were socked with two tuition increases, totaling $96 and $120 respectively.

Kennedy, who acts as a voice for the students, said the only way the funding crisis will brighten is if the students themselves voice their opinions.

"I think there has to be an awareness," she said. "I think the legislators are aware of the problem, but you can't stop working and pushing toward that. If there's one thing I've learned in Springfield it is that the people there do listen to the students."

Kennedy, who will be succeeded in the April 19 student elections, believes the next BOG representative needs to identify with an issue that pertains specifically to Eastern and to concentrate on that issue.

Patty Kennedy

"I think the BOG representative is looked at kind of differently because sometimes there are some questions as to what they do," Kennedy said. "The next person should find a solid issue within Eastern and work on that. It's done now but not to the extent where I think it would be as successful."

Kennedy said it is imperative that the next BOG representative take complex issues like funding for higher education and other budgetary matters, and then relate those issues to the students' level.

Kennedy, 21, also spent a majority of her term registering close to 900 students in voter registration drives, helping organize a national bus tour that stopped at Eastern in October to promote awareness for the 1988 presidential elections and alerting student organizations to the funding dilemma facing higher education.

Eastern's new VP welcome - vital to future

Eastern's new Vice President for Development should prove to be a very successful addition to the administrative staff.

Eastern President Stan Rives should be congratulated for proposing the position and acting so quickly to get the position filled.

Stephen Falk, who was selected through a nationwide search, will be coordinating fundraising events to raise more money for Eastern.

And if the current financial straits are any indication of the future, the money Falk will be raising will be very important for this institution to survive and continue to provide a quality education.

Falk will be primarily responsible for raising money from the private-sector, which would include contributions from different businesses and some wealthy individuals.

Falk will be earning his salary through the EIU Foundation and not through any state appropriated funds, so we should be fortunate that his $60,000 a year salary will not come out of our state funds.

We hope Falk can continue raising money that will be used for different scholarships and facilities on campus. The private fundraising events have been very successful in the past, such as the recent Tenth Decade Campaign that raised over $6 million.

We also hope Falk will be able to be a good public relations person, since he will be dealing with very affluent people, he will have to have a good personality and be able to relate well to potential contributors.

Falk will begin to work on the Second Century Campaign, an extension of the Tenth Decade Campaign, in the near future. And it should be a good test for him. If he can continue the success of that campaign, he should have our confidence.

Falk seems very enthusiastic about working at Eastern, and hopefully that enthusiasm will continue.

Although his post should have probably been created years ago, we are happy that Falk is on board and we hope he works out well.

PMS issue not just black and white

For many years, probably since the beginning of time, men have been searching for the secrets of women. They seem to have some sort of quality that has remained a mystery for thousands of years. And for that many years, men have been looking for clues.

A modern day example of one of the many mysteries surrounding women is PMS. The proper name for PMS is Premenstrual Syndrome. According to an article published in U.S. News and World Report, the American Psychiatric Association says PMS involves "a combination of depressive and anxious feelings with headaches, muscle pain and bloating."

For years, women have used their menstrual cycle as an excuse to be the most unfriendly and undesirable people to be around.

Men have been complaining all along and saying that PMS is all in a woman's head, and there is no excuse for her behavior. To men, it doesn't matter whether or not science has discovered anything concerning the possibilities of PMS being a physical condition. Men think women make up PMS to have an excuse to be crabby and edgy.

In recent years, however, women have used the miracles of science to claim PMS is not in the head, but a biochemical process which causes an imbalance in their normal behavior patterns. They say it is just something that happens and there is nothing anyone can do about it. They are victims of their own hormones.

Obviously, neither one of these arguments can be completely true. Men and women seem to be on opposite ends of the spectrum on the topic, and I think I have found a comfortable area between the red and violet right around the green.

Before any of you ladies get insulted by the idea of a male trying to tell you what goes on inside your body once a month, hear men out. I had a girlfriend for almost three years. I live with two women at home and I spoke to my friends' mothers and some female students. In addition, for the sole purpose of this article, I went to the library and did research on the topic. Because of this hard-working, nail-biting, nose-to-the-grindstone work I have done, I have come up with a theory.

Here it is: I do not believe there is a physical change that takes place in a woman's body which causes her to have no control of her actions. However, it is a fact that there is a crazy change in a woman's hormones which may cause her to be on edge. This does not mean it is an acceptable excuse for the behavior which may arise during this time.

On the other hand, it does mean it is a valid excuse. I think women become edgy when they know they are going to have their period. My theory is that they are not on edge as a direct result of the changes in their body, but as an indirect result of the variables which go along with having their period.

Let's try to put this into perspective for the guy who still has no sympathy whatsoever for women who suffer from PMS. For 40 years of their lives, women must deal with headaches, bloating, swelling and cramps once a month. That's 480 weeks of suffering in a lifetime. That would bug the hell out of me!

As a matter of fact, according to a survey which was run in U.S. News and World Report, PMS has become serious enough to where 5 percent of women who suffer from it have received medical attention.

A woman does have a chance to take a break from all this. She could decide to have a baby. When she does decide to have a child, there is even more swelling, aching, bloating and pain. She also gets morning sickness, and when a woman actually gives birth, it will probably be one of the most painful experiences she will have.

What I'm really trying to say is that we as men should try a little harder to understand what a woman has to put up with every month.

And ladies, try to remember that men don't know what it's like to go through a menstrual cycle, so don't be too hard on us when we're not very sympathetic to the symptoms of PMS. We don't know any better.

- David Patterson is a staff writer and guest columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Ph.D.'s aren't 'book' smart

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to letters written by Eastern's Ph.D.'s who would like to do away with the textbook rental system at Eastern.

These letters refer to the need for students to build a "personal library" and make a "commitment to lifelong education." I have previously heard these sentimental comments from other Ph.D.'s arguments against book rentals fall apart when I ask them one simple question.

"How many undergraduate texts, outside your area of concentration, do you own?"

Many have trouble finding more than three, not much of a "commitment" or "personal library." Face facts - you "returned" your books at the end of the semester just as we do, but you were out $100-$200 more than we are - so who is smarter?

Although it has been a year since my graduation from Eastern, I am still very interested in many campus activities.

One such activity is the Student Government elections. I encourage the Student Body to support Tim Butler and the Priority Party on April 19th.

Having worked with Tim in the past, I know how truly honest and involved he is with Eastern's students and know that he will be a very dedicated president. Please support Tim and the Priority Party.

BHA members to select new executives

By LISA ALLEN
Staff writer

Residence Hall Association members will elect two new executive members at 5 p.m. Thursday during its meeting in Carman Hall.

Kim Bergmann and Eric Fultz are running for RHA president. Current RHA President Ken Wetstein, who has accepted a resident assistant's position in Thomas Hall, will resign at the end of the semester.

Suzan Watt and Roberta Schuller are running for secretary. Bergmann, who is currently serving as secretary, is resigning to run for president.

Wetstein said representatives from the Quality and Priority Parties will speak at the meeting.

Wetstein said Residence Hall Week, April 17-21, will feature competition between residence halls. Some of the events include a bowling competition, a masquerade ball and "Hollywood Squares Eastern Style," a take off on the television game show.

"Hollywood Squares Eastern Style" will take place on Tuesday at dusk. The event, headed by RHA member Brett Gerber, was created to bring the campus and administration together.

"Hollywood Squares Eastern Style" will include representatives from campus organizations, including Eastern President Stan Rives.

Business school gains distinguished professor

By JEFF ORBAN
Staff writer

Stephen L. Payne has accepted Eastern's offer of appointment as the first Bertrand P. Holley Distinguished Professor of Social Responsibility in Business for the Lumpkin College of Business.

The professorship was created in honor of Holley, a business professor, in recognition and appreciation for his dedication to business ethics and social responsibility and his 41 years as an educator by grateful alumni and colleagues. The position officially starts in the fall of '89.

Payne, a professor of management at the University of Southwestern Louisiana, said he became interested in the position after reading a job description that was sent out nationwide by the Lumpkin College of Business Holley Professorship Search Committee.

The Holley Professor's responsibilities will be to teach, lecture, provide leadership in curriculum and faculty development, publish and consult on business ethics and social responsibility. The professorship is offered for a three-year term.

Payne said he was especially interested in the position because of the emphasis on business ethics.

Payne made the decision to apply for the position after speaking with Ted Ivarie, Dean of the Lumpkin College of Business, about the position at the National Conference for the Academy of Management in Anaheim, Calif. last year.

Ivarie said Payne and another professor were chosen from a pool of 25 applicants nationwide by the search committee, and were then asked to come to Eastern to make a presentation and interview for the position.

Both applicants were impressive, Ivarie added, but Payne was chosen because of his concentration in research and business ethics.

Language requirement is on the horizon at

The Council on Academic Affairs will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Union addition 1995 Room to discuss the Study of Undergraduate Education report concerning new language requirements for general education courses.

"We will not be discussing any particular courses at this time," CAA Chair Terry Weidner said.

CAA is now in the process of designing a new general education curriculum, and language is one component of that curriculum.

The language component describes specific skills in writing and speaking that should be included in the curriculum.

Weidner said the council is "allowing the different departments to suggest the criteria for the language courses."

Presentation offers facts to impress job interviewers

By KRISTA A. TAYLOR
Staff writer

A home economics professor addressed a crowd of about 70 people Wednesday at "How to Get the Job You Want," a Life Skills seminar that offered tips for making a successful first impression.

"Fashion fails. You want to look conservative, but not like a member of the clergy," said Gayle Strader, associate professor of home economics, at the seminar, held in the Union Addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

Strader said in the age of the competitive job market, everyone needs something that will give them an edge over the competition.

"Posture, eye contact and a firm handshake are some of the most important elements of a successful first impression," Strader said.

"Practice what the first ten words out of your mouth will be. You don't simply want to say, 'How are you?', you want to come across as being intelligent and having researched the company."

When selecting interview clothes, Strader suggested "conservative colors, that people know the names of." The best colors are in the gray and blue families, she said.

Strader's final suggestion was to organize papers in your briefcase either in folders or manilla envelopes and to bring a good pen. "Avoid dragging in a pen with a name on it. Invest in a silver or gold pen," she said.

"Put yourself together from your resume to your underwear. It gives you confidence and helps you come across that way," Strader said, "and that just may give you an extra edge over another applicant."

Reynolds wants his man

Defensive changes appeal to corner

By DAVID BRUMMER
Staff writer

For R.L. Reynolds, spring football practice has been frustrating, and he's not alone.

Seemingly continuous rain knocked out most of the first two weeks of outdoor contact practice. Consequently, spring workouts were moved to Lantz Fieldhouse. Even then, the team could only practice on alternating days, sharing the indoors with other athletic teams.

On those alternating days, most of practice time was spent working on the dreaded fundamentals.

Again and again and again.

"It's not been like the rest of the springs I've had," Reynolds said after one of the few outdoor practices the weather has allowed. "We've been working on the fundamentals a lot because we've been inside so much. I'd like to work on more than that. So it's not so fun."

However, Reynolds, a three-year starter at cornerback for Eastern, is excited about some changes that defensive coordinator John Smith is considering — changes that Reynolds thinks will highlight his speed and coverage abilities.

"I would love to see us blitz," Reynolds said. "That way we (cornerbacks) are in bump-and-run, man-to-man coverage. Then they can point the finger at the cornerbacks."

Under Smith's system previously, zone coverage was almost a constant, except for plays inside the 20-yard line and blitzing was less than frequent. But with a defensive unit that will be one of the quickest in the Gateway, a more aggressive, wide-open philosophy is almost certain.

"That's the way I want it. I want to be in a position where I have to make the play, not where you have to rely on someone else (to help out) all the time. Because then, when you mess up, you know who's fault it was and you take the blame for it."

Reynolds, who prefers R.L. over Rodney, his real name, is among a wealth of talent which returns to the Eastern secondary. Starters Juan Cox (cornerback) and second-team all-Gateway safety Daryl Holcombe are back, along with four other players who boast considerable game experience.

Last season was the first that Reynolds did not gain any post-season honors. In each of his first two seasons he was named second-team all-Gateway cornerback. He led the Gateway with seven interceptions as a freshman and was the third-leading tackler (75) on the 1987 team.

And although he put up similar numbers last fall (67 tackles, 2 interceptions), Reynolds could not even merit honorable mention.

"I wasn't disappointed with myself last year," Reynolds said of being left off the all-Gateway team. "I think it was just kind of the system, itself. I'm not sure how the coaches vote, or what type of politics are involved. It was just something that happened."

Smith had an explanation for Reynold's drop off in interceptions.

"(After his freshman year) Rod had to adapt to a whole new system," Smith said. "He's now just getting into his coverage principle. I think he got better as the season went on last year."

If Reynolds starts all 11 games next year he will have started 44 games in his career at Eastern.

"I'll be pleased if I do well next year, but also if the team does well too," Reynolds said. "I know myself. I'm one of the best defensive backs in the league if I play like I can."

Nagle arrives

Charles Nagle, the first of four candidates to be interviewed for Eastern's athletic director post, is scheduled to arrive at Coles County Airport at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

On Thursday, Nagle will be interviewed by four Eastern athletic organizations and also conduct an open forum at the Union Addition Charleston-Mattoon room at 1:30 p.m.

Nagle has been assistant AD for external affairs and development at Bowling Green State since 1987.

Ray Robinson dies

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, a five-time middleweight champion considered by many boxing experts to be the greatest pound-for-pound fighter ever, died Wednesday at Mountman Medical Center. He was 63.

Robinson, born Walker Smith in Detroit, won the welterweight title in 1946. He went on to win the middleweight title an unprecedented five times from 1951, when he knocked out Jake LaMotta, to 1958, when he beat Carmen Basilio.

He lost only 19 of his 202 professional fights.

Thomas to Illini?

Simeon High School star Deon Thomas, Illinois' Mr. Basketball this past season, has decided not to visit Iowa on a recruiting trip, the Chicago Sun-Times reported Wednesday.

The only other school that appears to be in the running for the 6-9 center is Final Four participant Illinois, but Thomas will not sign a letter-of-intent until later in the month.

Men's track squad to host invitational

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Staff writer

Eastern's track team will begin hosting a non-scoring invitational Thursday with the decathlon events, in which two of Eastern's three decathletes will not compete, starting at 1 p.m. at O'Brien Stadium.

Darren Barber, Eastern's new record-holder in the decathlon after scoring 7,156 points at the SEMotion Relays, will be performing, but Bob Holzer will not compete in the decathlon and Darrin Steele will not compete in the meet at all.

Both Steele and Holzer are nursing injuries. Holzer has a deep thigh bruise, but will compete in the intermediate hurdles and the 4 x 400 meter relay.

Eastern assistant coach Tom Akers said he thinks that Barber will be tired coming off his SEMotion performance, but said that he needs the work.

"This is the last decathlon prior to the conference meet," Akers said. "He'll probably be tired, but I wouldn't want him to go that long without a decathlon."

The decathletes will compete in half of their 10 events on Thursday, including the 100 and 400 meter dashes, the long jump, the high jump and the shot put.

Other key schools competing include Southern Illinois and Indiana State.

The meet will continue on Friday, when Dan Steele will be attempting to qualify for the NCAA meet in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles.

"The wind will play a role in his race strategy," Akers said. "I think that he still might be a couple of weeks away, although he's been pretty sharp."

Panthers sweep pair from Illinois State

By BILL LOOBY
Staff writer

Eastern's baseball team swept a twinbill from Illinois State in Normal Wednesday to rebound from Tuesday's tough loss to Illinois.

The Panthers won the first game over the Redbirds behind a strong pitching performance by junior left-hander Scott Nelson, who went the distance and struck out four in the 4-2 victory.

The sweep was completed in the nightcap with a 7-4 win. Darin Kopac notched the victory for Eastern going four and 2/3 innings and striking out five Illinois State batters. The junior right-hander was touched for one run in the fifth before giving way to reliever Mike Deese.

"They (wins) were big, especially after the loss Tuesday (to Illinois)," Eastern coach Dan Callahan said.

The Panthers upped their record to 15-11 as a result of effective mound work — a question mark going into the season — from their depleted staff of eight.

"Nelson pitched another real good game," Callahan said. "He and (Ryan) Edwards are our hot pitchers right now."

Nelson upped his victory total to two after picking up two early losses. The southpaw pitched well Saturday at Evansville, holding the Aces to two runs and striking out 10 in the 10-2 Panther victory.

Eastern spotted the Redbirds two runs before first baseman Dana Leibovitz stroked a solo home run in the fourth inning. Right-fielder Jeff Jetel then slashed an run-scoring single in the fifth to tie the score.

While Nelson shut out the Illinois State lineup for five straight innings (the third through seventh), the Panthers reloaded their guns.

Shortstop Brent Howard singled and advanced to second after center-fielder Matt Legaspi walked. Howard scored and Legaspi advanced on an error to put Eastern ahead 3-2.

Jetel iced the game with an RBI single to score Legaspi. Jetel finished the game going a perfect four hits in four at bats.

In the second game, catcher Dan Hargis cranked his always dangerous bat for hits (two doubles and a triple) and two batted in, as Eastern nailed Redbird pitching for 12 hits in the victory.

The Panthers had to hold off an inning charge by Illinois State, as Redbirds pecked out three runs in the frame before Deese squelched the rally to get the save.

"They (Illinois State) swing the pretty well," Callahan said.

Callahan said although the sweep is important, questions still linger as the heads into a crucial four-game set of the Association of Mid-Continent Universities Gray Division rival Southwest Missouri State in Springfield, Mo., this weekend.

Eastern tennis player Mike Patrick returns a volley during Wednesday's meet with Bradley at Weller Courts.

Bradley tops EIU tennis squad 6-3

Men netters slip to 2-9

By JERRY SOLBERG
Staff writer

Eastern men's tennis team met unseasonably blustery weather and a tough Bradley team Wednesday afternoon, when the Braves blew by the Panthers 6-3 at the Weller courts.

Eastern also fell to a 2-9 record with the loss Wednesday, but coach John Bennett said he thinks that the Panthers have just been the victims of a tough schedule (and miserable weather).

Bennett said, "The teams we've faced so far this year all have had a couple of kids with the potential to be nationally ranked."

"Hopefully the weather will warm up soon so they can get up better for the meets mentally."

One performance at the meet that shouldn't be clouded by the loss is the comeback win by Panther No. 4 singles player Bob Myrvold. After falling 6-7 in the first set, Myrvold took the next two sets 6-3, 6-4 to win it.

"It's good to see him come through like that," said Bennett. "He's (Myrvold) had a lot of three-set matches this year."

Eastern's Dan Beres (No. 6 singles player) also came through for the Panthers in a three-set comeback victory very similar to the one Myrvold posted. Beres beat Bradley's Mike Russo 5-7, 6-1, 6-1.

The only other victory for the Panthers came from the No. 3 doubles team of Mike Patrick and Dan Beres in a convincing 6-2, 6-3 win.

The slow start aside, Bennett says he sees brighter days ahead for the Panthers.

"It's natural for them to get frustrated (with) the way things are going," said Bennett. "Hopefully this weekend we can do better against some teams that aren't as strong as the ones we've faced."

This coming Saturday, Eastern will host St. Francis (Joliet) and Indiana/Purdue at Indianapolis. Bennett said he believes the Panthers are capable of sweeping.

"We split with them last year, losing to IUPUI," said Bennett. "They are both tougher this year but we should come away with a win against both teams."

Bennett says he also sees the fact that Eastern will be at home for the next couple of meets as an added bonus for several reasons.

"Traveling away gets a player down at times," said Bennett. "I try to schedule this part of our season primarily at home to give us a better edge."

First-place Cubs top Cardinals

CHICAGO (AP) — Mike Williams stymied a ninth-inning comeback, getting the fourth save as the Chicago Cubs beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 Wednesday night for their fifth straight victory.

Kilgus, 1-1, was backed by four double plays in position his first National League victory. Scott Terry, 0-1, took a loss, but was hit by a pitch the third inning and left a game in the fourth when his right knee stiffened.

Williams came on and ended the game by striking Jose Oquendo after Tony Perez singled. Kilgus and Williams came to the Cubs in the major player deal in which Chicago sent Rafael Palmeiro to the Rangers in the offseason.

The Cubs scored in the second when Andre Dawson doubled, went to third on a single by Vance Law and scored. Ramos grounded into a fielder's choice.

The Cubs picked up an unearned run in the first when Rookie Jerome Walton walked and went to third on a single by Mitch Webster. When Terry attempted to pick off Webster at first, Pedro Guerrero let the ball get by him for an error and Walton scored.

Three recruits sign on to play hoops at Eastern

By JEFF SMITH
Associate sports editor

Eastern's men's basketball team signed three high school recruits to national letters-of-intent Wednesday, the first day of the two-week spring signing period.

The three players are 6-5 forward Joe Hamilton of Beardstown High School, 6-7 forward Kevin Robertson of Joliet West and 6-4 guard Eric West of Kinloch, Mo.

Eastern signed 6-9 center Kent Andrews of Indianapolis and 6-4 guard R.J. Crunk of Shawnee (Kan.) Junior College in November.

Two other players, 6-7 center J.P. Brens of St. Charles and 6-6 forward Andrew Amaya of Walther Lutheran in Broadview, are currently considering Eastern.

Brens' mother said the family is currently weighing his college options. "He'll decide in the next week or so," Mrs. Brens said.

Chicago Sun-Times sports editor Taylor Bell said Illinois' apparent decision to decline a scholarship offer to Brens has likely delayed his choice of a college. "I know Brens was hoping for a scholarship from Illinois, but I don't know what he's going to do now," Bell said.

Amaya, on the other hand, may choose to play college football — a definite mistake according to Bell. "I don't know what the kid's (Amaya's) problem is," he said. "He apparently is not basketball-minded. He played football at Lutheran, and his brother (Doug) went to Illinois (where he plays tight end)."

"He's got size, and he played the post at Lutheran, so it's obvious where his talent lies."

Of the Panthers' trio of April recruits,

Hamilton sticks out most with his first-team Class A All-State selection. The Beardstown product averaged 20.3 points, 10.7 rebounds, 5.8 assists and three blocked shots per game as a senior, and twice led the school to the IHSA's Elite Eight in Champaign.

Samuels sees Hamilton growing into a good perimeter player at Eastern. "As he develops, I think he will become an outstanding perimeter shooter because he has the size and strength to jump over people," he said. "Once he adds upper-body strength, he will have an opportunity to play a great deal for us."

Robertson, who averaged seven points and six rebounds a game at Joliet West, is a late bloomer with some potential, Samuels said. "While he's not a polished player, he does have outstanding athletic ability," he said. "He reached the state track meet last year with a 46-foot triple jump."

"We recruited Kevin as a power forward because he's aggressive inside and should develop as a player who can post up and score."

West, a second-team All-State Conference selection at McCluer, averaged 14.5 points, eight rebounds and six assists per game in 1988-89. He is a versatile player who already possesses the physical strength to face college competition, Samuels said.

"Eric has shown his versatility by playing three different positions ... He will be a small forward/big guard with a good shooting touch," he said. "He's also a player with great jumping ability and upper-body strength for a high schooler."
